Posted by Wildtrak 8 years ago Canon P23 DH V 2 Color miniDesktop Printing Calculator Answers. Happy Halloween !!! Thanks. download the user manual P23 DH III from here. Download the user manual P23 DH III from here. The printer prints positive numbers in purple ink and negative numbers in red. You can use it to figure timebased calculations like fees, wages and profit margins. The Canon P23DH uses four AA batteries and includes an AC adapter for powering the calculator from an electrical outlet. Slide the battery cover in the direction indicated by the arrow to remove it. Align the negative end of the battery with the negative contact inside the battery chamber, using the marker as a guide. Slide the printer cover in the direction indicated by the arrow to remove it. Press down on the ink roller to lock it in place. Replace the printer cover and slide it back into place. Install the paper roll on the paper arm. Cut the end of the paper roll diagonally. Begin at the left side of the paper and cut upward at a 45degree angle. Insert the cut end of the paper roll into the paper slot on the back of the calculator. You should now be all set to go. It will immediately feed since it is firmer than the Poatit paper. Insert end of paper into slot at back of calculator until it stops. Then press feed button until paper advance thru slop at top. Buttons feel very nice to press. Big characters on display great for my 87 year old mother. The diamond sign for note entry or subtotal is great feature. Once you are used to this it is handy but a bit confusing at first. Not obvious if you dont know it and dont read the directions. Great device. Came quickly and had AC adapter, with ribbon and a little roll of tape for printing on. I love it. We used it at least 3 4 times each week for such tasks as balancing our checking account against that posted electronically by the bank. <http://chemtron-vostok.ru/media/jetcat-spt5-manual.xml>

The new printer calculator is very similar to the original but there are some minor changes. The printer provides very legible characters and generic replacement ink rollers can be purchased from Amazon at a reasonable price. Not a Calculator. Lots of functions for the general accounting that I, as a PTO Treasurer, am tasked with accomplishing. It can run on battery or electricity and the cord is decently long. It can also give you a total of items added up when you total the amount, which is helpful when handling 100s of checks during fundraising events for example you have 72 checks on a tape, and it will print a 72 out to the left of the total amount. Those sound like very simple needs, and they are, but those functions save me TONS of time when I have to run two tapes on each deposit. Prints very well, also. The only button that responds when pressed is the FEED button. All other buttons are completely unresponsive. My original review So far so good with this product. The only thing I don't care for is the auto shut off after approx 5 minutes. I've been meaning to look at the manual to see if there's a way to deactivate that feature but haven't had the time to look into it yet. I gave this 4 stars because the instructions are insufficient and too early to rate reliability. The instructions are cryptic but Cannon customer service quickly responded to my email. I had a problem setting the date. Below is the information I received from Cannon customer service. Thank you for contacting Canon product support. I understand you want to set the date on the P23DHV calculator. I will be glad to provide assistance. Below are the steps to assist you in setting the Date and Time on your calculator. Position the calculator so that you can look directly over the keypad to see the notations. The default date will appear. 2. Hold the TIME SET key down for 3 seconds or until you see the first digit begin to blink in the display. 3. Input the correct date. 4.

Firmly press and release the TIME SET key. The first digit should stop blinking and the date is then set. The default time will appear. 2. Hold the TIME SET key down for 3 seconds or until you see the first digit begin to blink in the display. NOTE The seconds will disappear. 3. Input the correct time. The first digit should stop blinking and the time is then set. The seconds will again be displayed. Follow by pressing the CLEAR key to return to the calculator mode. The calculator is capable of performing complex calculations like timebased fee structures, profit margins and tax calculations. There is also an included clock and calendar, and the calculator can print in purple and red colored inks. Instructions for using the calculator include performing tasks before using the calculator, such as loading paper and batteries. Some maintenance for this device is also required. Remove the insulation tape at the back of the calculator before using the P23DHV for the first time, then load the batteries. Remove the battery cover by sliding it in the direction of the arrow. Insert the batteries and close the cover. Insert printing paper by lifting the printer arm and placing the paper roll on the arm so that it will unravel counterclockwise. Turn the power switch on and press the paper feed key to advance the paper. Perform some calculations, such as figuring taxes. Set the tax rate with the setting key by moving the switch to "Rate Set," and enter a rate, such as five percent. Move the switch to "PRT" and add the tax amount. For instance, if it is 2000, enter the "2," "0," "0," and "0" digits consecutively. Replace the ink roller as the type begins to fade. It should need replacing about every eight rolls of paper. Turn the power switch off and remove the printer cover.

Hold the left side of the ink roller and pull it up and take it out. Insert the new roller and close the cover. Nelson studied design at Hornsey Art School.
